Physical therapist assistant students selling tote bags - May 13, 2009

Leigh McDonald, left, and Lauren Amell, right, students in the physical therapist assistant (PTA) program on the Lake Havasu City campus of Mohave Community College, are selling MCC logo tote bags to raise funds for first-year students to provide a family picnic to the news students coming into the program and to help defray the cost of attending a PTA conference in San Diego in February. Lori Howell, the campus resident faculty for chemical dependency therapy, buys one of the bags.
