Solicitation by Non-profit Organizations on Campuses

Non-profit organizations with a mission of assisting people in distress may qualify as organizations allowed to solicit funds or membership on the campuses of the college. Such organizations must apply in writing to the office of the President to be placed on a list of qualified organizations.

Approved organizations will be allowed, within a definite time span, to place a table in a high-traffic facility selected by the campus dean in order to promote their causes. At no time should the activity by the organization disrupt college activities or interfere with the traffic flow of students and employees. Should such disruption occur, the campus dean will require that the organization leave the facility.
